Stewardship

Thank you, thank you, thank you for signing up for our hosting of Family Promise this month (Aug 19-26). Everyone has very busy lives so we try to make the volunteering simple. People who like cleaning know we do not go beyond 2 hours. People who do laundry know that a phone call to Kathie will open the door to return the laundry at their request. We have volunteer coordinators who assist the volunteers who serve meals or spend the night. If you volunteered to help with cots we have team leaders who work alongside you to get the tasks of bringing in the cots and making them up a quick and easy volunteer time. We have volunteer tasks for most age groups so whether you want your family involved or you like to volunteer alone there is something for everyone. The Monsignor House is our Church family home and it takes all of us caring for it and caring for our homeless brothers and sisters, 4 times a year, to make this volunteering opportunity work. Thank you for all your monetary donations and most especially for your prayer!

The Monsignor House at 2810 Central will be open on Wednesday, August 15 from 10:30am-12:30pm. Patsie Thomas will be there to receive donations for our hosting week. Kathie Malby will be at the House Friday August 17 from 4:00 pm-6:00pm to receive donations. The front door will be open, so come on in. If you have been thinking about Helping with Family Promise but need to ask some questions, please call Kathie & leave a message @ 781.5033.

Liturgical Bits and Bytes: Eucharistic Prayer I: The first Eucharistic Prayer is lengthy and ponderous. Its repetitive structure so differs from the other prayers that it can be hard to follow. Yet throughout our history as a church, the Roman rite has used no other eucharistic prayer more frequently. Inspired by St. Ambrose in the fourth century, it became the only eucharistic prayer permissible in the Roman liturgy until the Second Vatican Council. Having no preface of its own, it accepted one chosen for the feast, season or occasion. The rest of the prayer remained unchanged since about the seventh century and assumed the title "canon" because it was the only one. Now because we have so many eucharistic prayers, it is less accurate to call any of them a "canon."

The prayer balances across the account of the Last Supper.

We pray for the living in the first half, for the dead in the second. We ask intercession from some saints in the first half, and from others in the second. The prayer never included an explicit appeal to the Holy Spirit, which caused some controversy among the Eastern rites noted for their devotion to the third person of the Trinity. Consequently, every single eucharistic prayer approved since Vatican II includes an explicit "epiclesis"—a request for the Holy Spirit to change the bread and wine into the Body and Blood of Christ.

Although fixed in form, Prayer I offers internal options. The prefaces change. The lists of the saints may be abbreviated. Many subsections conclude with an optional formula: "Through Christ our Lord. Amen." Prayer I also permits a special acknowledgment of some feasts such as Christmas, Holy Thursday and Easter.

Before Vatican II, Pope John XXIII authorized one last change to the Roman canon: He included Joseph among the list of saints. A few years after the council, the memorial acclamation was added as well. Eucharistic Prayer I is admittedly hard to follow, but its endurance gives testimony to the timelessness of the Catholic faith.
